DANGER AHEAD!

Danger always lurks over fields of wheat. From the time you farmers, who grow wheat, loosen the soil for seed until you cut your crop and see it safely binned, danger is always ahead . . . The threat of crop failure . . . The threat of lost income.

And if that danger doesn't catch up with you this year, it still is ahead of you . . . Next year . . . The year after next . . . And the year after that. Such things are annual affairs, these unexpected dangers.

It is such unexpected things that upset plans. And that is when you need protection.

At no stage in its growth is wheat safe from the fury of an unpredictable nature. Wind or flood can sweep or wash the seed from fertile acres. Or the sun can suck from the soil its life-giving moisture.

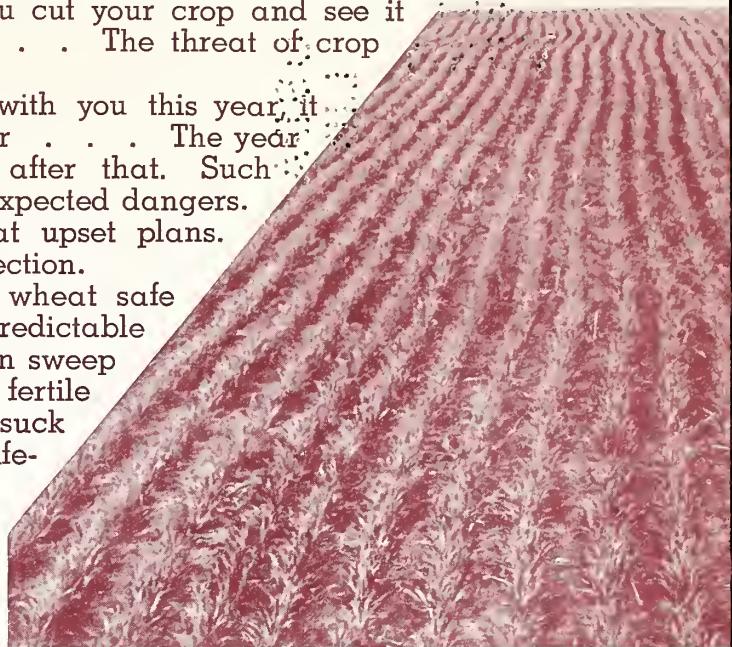

Green stands of young wheat and fields golden with the age of near maturity may be eaten away by grasshoppers. Or fire may destroy your money crop, your means of income. Drought has, and will again, shrivel many a crop. And no man can guard against hail or prevent wind from leveling a bountiful crop.

These are elements of nature about which you can do little or nothing—except in one way.

You can INSURE your crop against loss or destruction from these forces. A simple, easy plan offered you by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation will protect you against loss not only from ALL of these hazards but many others too.

Maybe you have seldom, if ever, had a crop loss. But can you KNOW that you never will? Every farmer, however, CAN protect himself from such disaster. Crop insurance will give you this protection. Don't take a chance! See your AAA committee today about insurance on YOUR crop.
